1. What motivated you to seek nomination for this committee?	Our clergy ecclesiastical court needs experienced clergy who are familiar with both the canons and the realities of life in the ordained ministry of the church. I believe myself to be a person qualified to participate in our due process system which is designed to handle allegations of misdoing by my fellow clergy.

I have a commitment to work for the health and maintenance of high standards for the ordained. I will bring my typical character traits to the court's deliberations, things like the ability to work in a collegial fashion, ability to see a bigger picture, lack of impulsiveness, reasonableness, and a commitment to fairness.
