

Temporary Waiver of Clergy Assessments Following Disaster

To help the neediest of our parishes, a diocesan bishop may apply to the Chief Executive Officer of The Church Pension Fund (CPF) for a temporary waiver of assessments that must be paid for clergy participating in The Church Pension Fund Clergy Pension Plan and the International Clergy Pension Plan who are working in the diocese following an official declaration of major disaster (such as a state of emergency).

According to the policy, bishops must certify (check all that apply):

- that the governor has declared a major disaster, such as a state of emergency (“governor” includes the senior most government official in their nation, state or region),
- that as a direct result of the disaster, the ability of each parish seeking relief to function has been severely impaired, and
- that there are inadequate resources (including endowments) within the affected congregation and diocese to pay assessments and continue to function.

If the declaration of a major disaster is not publicly available, CPF may request a copy of the declaration.
